English: Y12 Summer Term – Independent Study (NEA)

21st April: Students have already decided on two literary texts to study and created a coursework question. Students plan essays as 3-4 points of exploration based on chosen question. Plan should be a PPT with 3-4 slides with clear definition of each point of exploration.  27th April: Students should collect quotes for each point from each text that can be used for each point of exploration. Each quote MUST BE REFERENCED WITH A PAGE NUMBER.  CHECK IN 29th April: students need to send PPT completed to this point to Mrs  Drumgold for checking and feedback.  4th May: Students need to create a word document to research and collect relevant social, historical and cultural contextual information about each text. Students need to note down where they found each piece of information – this is very important as it will save a huge amount of time.  CHECK IN 13th May: students need to send completed contextual research to Miss  Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1 st June: Students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1 st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their chosen theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 1 st June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  29 st June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 1 st June: students need to send their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newmes.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	Key tasks	Notes chosen question. Plan should be a PPT with 3-4 slides with clear definition of each point of exploration.  27th April: Students should collect quotes for each point from each text that can be used for each point of exploration. Each quote MUST BE REFERENCED WITH A PAGE NUMBER.  CHECK IN 29th April: students need to send PPT completed to this point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  Teachers will guide about onte down where they found each piece of information – this is very important as it will save a huge amount of time.  CHECK IN 13th May: Students need to send completed contextual research to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1 st June: Students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1 st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 2 <sup>sh</sup> June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay.  CHECK IN 2 <sup>sh</sup> June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29 <sup>sh</sup> June: students need to write up exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay to Mrs Newnes.  29 <sup>sh</sup> June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of their exploration in their essay to Mrs Newnes.  Summer work will be set this will be set this now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.	21st April: Students have already decided on two literary texts to study and created a	_
examples.  27th April: Students should collect quotes for each point from each text that can be used for each point of exploration. Each quote MUST BE REFERENCED WITH A PAGE NUMBER.  CHECK IN 29th April: students need to send PPT completed to this point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  4th May: Students need to create a word document to research and collect relevant social, historical and cultural contextual information about each text. Students need to note down where they found each piece of information — this is very important as it will save a huge amount of time.  CHECK IN 13th May: students need to send completed contextual research to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 21st June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  25th June: Students need to write up their exploration of the third point of their exploration in their essay to Miss Newnes.  Summer work will be set this will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	coursework question. Students plan essays as 3-4 points of exploration based on 27th April: Students should collect quotes for each point from each text that can be used for each point of exploration. Each quote MUST BE REFERENCED WITH A PAGE NUMBER.  CHECK IN 29th April: students need to send PPT completed to this point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  4th May: Students need to create a word document to research and collect relevant social, historical and cultural contextual information about each text. Students need to note down where they found each piece of information — this is very important as it will save a huge amount of time.  CHECK IN 13th May: students need to send completed contextual research to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their choesen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  29th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  29th July: Students need to write up exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	chosen question. Plan should be a PPT with 3-4 slides with clear definition of each
used for each point of exploration. Each quote MUST BE REFERENCED WITH A PAGE NUMBER.  CHECK IN 29th April: students need to send PPT completed to this point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  4th May: Students need to create a word document to research and collect relevant social, historical and cultural contextual information about each text. Students need to note down where they found each piece of information – this is very important as it will save a huge amount of time.  CHECK IN 13th May: students need to send completed contextual research to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  1sth June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  1sth June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 2th 6th July: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of their exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their exploration in their exploration of the third point of their exploration in their exploration in their exploration in their exploration in their exploration of the third point of their exploration in thei	point of exploration.	examples.
NUMBER. CHECK IN 29th April: students need to send PPT completed to this point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback. 4th May: Students need to create a word document to research and collect relevant social, historical and cultural contextual information about each text. Students need to note down where they found each piece of information – this is very important as it will save a huge amount of time. CHECK IN 13th May: Students need to send completed contextual research to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words). CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach). CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay. CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Drumgold for checking and feedback.  4th May: Students need to create a word document to research and collect relevant social, historical and cultural contextual information about each text. Students need to save a huge amount of time.  CHECK IN 13th May: students need to send completed contextual research to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 18th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: Students need to write up exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Ath May: Students need to create a word document to research and collect relevant social, historical and cultural contextual information about each text. Students need to note down where they found each piece of information – this is very important as it will save a huge amount of time.  CHECK IN 13th May: students need to send completed contextual research to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up exploration of the third point of their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mirs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now and the prepare for Y13.	CHECK IN 29th April: students need to send PPT completed to this point to Mrs social, historical and cultural contextual information about each text. Students need to note down where they found each piece of information – this is very important as it will save a huge amount of time.  CHECK IN 13th May: students need to send completed contextual research to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	Drumgold for checking and feedback.
note down where they found each piece of information – this is very important as it will save a huge amount of time.  CHECK IN 13th May: students need to send completed contextual research to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	4th May: Students need to create a word document to research and collect relevant	Teachers will research if needed.  CHECK IN 13th May: students need to send completed contextual research to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different useful for their area of study. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22rd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	social, historical and cultural contextual information about each text. Students need to	_ CHECK IN 13th May: students need to send completed contextual research to Miss  Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	note down where they found each piece of information – this is very important as it will Newnes for checking and feedback.  18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	save a huge amount of time.
18th May: Students need to read through the introduction to using different interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  Tis needs to be 200-400 words.		needed.
interpretations. Students should choose one theoretical approach that will be most useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.
useful for their area of study. Students should write draft introduction using their chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.
chosen theoretical approach over half-term (200-400 words).  CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  3th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
CHECK IN 1st June: students need to send their draft introduction to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  3th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.	•
checking and feedback.  May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
May Half Term  1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.
1st June: Students need to write up their exploration of first point/part of essay using their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.
their plan and collected resources (quotes, context, and theoretical approach).  CHECK IN 8 th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15 th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22 nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29 th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6 th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.	•
CHECK IN 8 th June: students need to send their exploration of the first point in their essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15 th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22 nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29 th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6 th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.
essay to Miss Newnes for checking and feedback.  15 th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22 nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to  Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29 th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6 th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.		achieve this!
15 th June: Students need to write up exploration of second point/part of essay.  CHECK IN 22 nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to  Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29 th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6 th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.
CHECK IN 22 nd June: students need to send their exploration of the second point to Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29 th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6 th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument.  Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.
Mrs Drumgold for checking and feedback.  29 th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6 th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument. Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed. This needs to be 200-400 words.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.
29 th June: students need to write up their exploration of the third point of exploration in their essay.  CHECK IN 6 th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument. Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed. This needs to be 200-400 words.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
in their essay.  CHECK IN 6 th July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument. Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.
CHECK IN 6 <sup>th'</sup> July: students need to send in their exploration of the third point of their essay to Mrs Newnes.  13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument. Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed. This needs to be 200-400 words.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	i i i i i i i i i i i i i i i i i i i essay to Mrs Newnes.  13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument. Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed. This needs to be 200-400 words.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	,
13 th July: Students need to write a conclusion bringing together whole argument. Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed. This needs to be 200-400 words.  Summer work will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Students need to revisit their draft introduction and make any changes that are needed now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.  will be set this week to prepare for Y13.	•	Summer work now that an in-depth investigation has been completed.  This needs to be 200-400 words.  week to prepare for Y13.	,
This needs to be 200-400 words.		week to
	, and the second	prepare for Y13.
CHECK III IO JAIY, JUIA COMPICICA COALJUVOIR, MCIAAMIK COMCAJIOH, LO IVIIJ	CHECK IN 16 th July: send completed coursework, including conclusion, to Mrs Drumgold.		