Modern History Review eLibrary

<https://www.hoddereducationmagazines.com/>

Click on 'see all magazines', 'A Level Magazines', then scroll down to find Modern History Review and click 'See all issues'. You will then be able to explore several years' worth of issues going back to 2005.

Search the eLibrary and identify an issue with one article on each of:

- British history between 1930 and 1997
- German history between 1919 and 1963
- Tudor history

(Alternatively, to avoid a manual search of the journals, there is a Word document cataloguing relevant articles. This has been e-mailed to you.)

*For each article, read it carefully and then summarise it in 10-12 bullet points.

*Then from each issue of the journal you've accessed, select another article about an unrelated event or controversy. Read them carefully and again, summarise it in 10-12 bullet points.
